It seems that HQ found the document through another email chain and have already approved its release. Thank you all for scrambling but I think we are through with this inquiry. I'll forward the answers for the AP questions if I get them. - lw

Richard – FYI. It seems that our customary practice in situations like this is to require a FOIA request, but then again, this might be an exception.

All (and if this needs to be forwarded to others please do so), I have attached the WAF that initiated the BOR work at Gold King. This was funded through an existing removal IA and Duc Nguyen is the PO. Tom Luebke at the BOR is the contact for this IA and coordinates the peer reviews by the COE and USGS. His email is Luebke, Thomas tluebke@usbr.gov. If you have any further questions feel free to call me.

Robin – Were you involved in setting up the BOR review of the Gold King Mine incident?

Thanks,
Steve

Hi all, can you please help us track down this document the reporter is referring to?

“EPA/BOR Superfund Program Work Authorization Form dated 8/20/2015 and any attachments”

And let me know if there are any “additional documents that detail the nature and scope of the work that Interior was requested to conduct as part of its independent assessment of the Aug. 5 Gold King Mine incident.”

We’re checking with the reporter about his deadline.

Thank you!

Thanks for getting back to me Melissa. I have tried the Bureau of Reclamation and will try Jessica Kershaw as well.

In the interim, please provide a copy of the EPA/BOR Superfund Program Work Authorization Form dated 8/20/2015 and any attachments. Please also provide any additional documents in the EPA's possession that detail the nature and scope of the work that the Department of Interior was requested to conduct as part of its independent assessment of the Aug. 5 Gold King Mine incident. This information should be available to the public under the federal Freedom of Information Act.

Thanks for your time.

Hi Laura, Melissa-

I'm seeking more information about Gold King investigation, specifically whether it will address issues of potential negligence and/or criminal responsibility, as EPA Administrator Gina McCarthy suggested in her appearance before the House Natural Resources and Oversight committees.

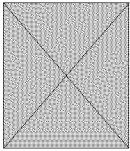

A Politico story yesterday described a "work form" that details the scope of work Interior's Bureau of Reclamation was to undertake.

Is it the EPA's understanding that issues regarding negligence or criminal responsibility will be addressed in the Dept of Interior Investigation? Was a specific request made to Interior to consider those issues? Are those issues being addressed in the EPA's internal review?

Please provide a copy of the EPA/BOR Superfund Program Work Authorization Form and any attachments. Please also provide any additional documents that detail the nature and scope of the work that Interior was requested to conduct as part of its independent assessment of the Aug. 5 Gold King Mine incident. This information should be public under the federal Freedom of Information Act.

Thanks for your time. I also left a voice mail for Laura.
